MY FAVORITE SPACE

up on the roof

"To live 'at the top' is one of the great modern luxuries: Without elevators, our grandest spaces would still be the parlours of our 19th-century brownstones. The Hariri & Hariri offices are on the top floor of our 12-story building near Herald Square. We come up to the roof to clear our heads, take in the Empire State Building looming over our shoulders, and see the city all around us. One of our first projects was a rooftop addition on the Upper West Side. Our concept was to add a structure in the scale of New York's famous water tanks!"
